LEGAL EXPERIENCE

Nandana Indananda has extensive experience in handling complex legal cases, particularly in the areas of intellectual property, e-commerce, and online platform laws. He has a proven track record of delivering successful outcomes for his clients and is highly regarded in the legal community. Some of his notable cases include:

- Represented a leading telecommunications company in disputes over concession contracts with state telecoms companies worth over USD 3 billion, both at arbitration institutes and administrative courts.

- Assisted an international organization in copyright infringement cases related to the 2018 World Cup Finals, before the Central Intellectual Property and International Trade Court and the Administrative Court.

- Successfully defended a lawsuit with a claimed amount of over USD 5 million against a leading e-marketplace company in China, regarding the sale of allegedly illegal products on its platform.

- Secured a preliminary injunction from the Central Intellectual Property and International Trade Court to stop a major telecommunications company from broadcasting the signals of the 2022 World Cup Final to the public.

- Representation in a patent infringement case that was widely regarded as the largest and most complex in Thai history. Successfully obtained a favorable settlement for his client just prior to the rendering of judgment, securing a rare Anton Piller order to seize infringing goods and proving infringement.

- Winning a historic judgment for a global technology leader in a trade secret misappropriation case. This was the first successful enforcement of trade secret rights in Thailand and resulted in an injunction against the misappropriation of technology, as well as substantial damages and recovery of legal fees for the client.

- Providing legal counsel to a major pharmaceutical company, including verifying marketing compliance with complex regulations and mitigating risk and loss.

- Represented a multinational pharmaceutical company in patent infringement litigation against a local generic company. Nandana effectively managed the case and successfully protected the validity of the client's patent.
